and Stevenson? At Nashville indeed the L. and N. road does connect and will continue to connect with the Nashville and Chattaneoga road—in which at Stevenson, the Memphis and Charleston road terminates—the great competing road for business from the Southwest to the Northeast. From Stevenson to New York via the Southern route the distance to 318 miles shorter than from Stevenson to New York via the Cincinnati road. Does the Gazette imagine that the Memphis and Charleston road will deliver to the Cincinnati Southern road its freight and passengers to be turned 318 miles out of their direct course? What then does the Gazette want to do at Stevenson with its new road?

Stevenson with its new road?

What does it want to do at Nashville?
There are already seven transportation lines at Nashville, with which the new Cincinnati Southern route has to enter into

Supposing that Cincinnatt could take away all the through business from the Louisville and Nashville railroad—amounting, as we have seen, for 185 miles of road, to $638,971 71, and for 296 miles to Cincinnati to about $1,000,000—and transfer the same to its own projected road, it will appear that the people of Cincinnation a little more crooked—with a view of ing into competition with a road so rably located and so well managed as coulsville and Nashville road, it would udent on its part to make itself more fav with the location of the existing of communications and the business setted by them, with the geography roductions of the country, with the err currents of stade, simply beall these matters have a very serious gupon the success of the projected than road.

In the late discussion which has taken place in Cincinnati on the railroad question, not one word has been said as to the probable revenue of the great Southern road—no facts and figures have been presented to the Cincinnati people to show whether their pet enterprise will pay. This is, however, a question of considerable importance, and we hope that, in furnishing the above information to our neighbors, who at this moment seem will. neighbors, who at this moment seem willing to be instructed by every one that may want to take the trouble to do so, we will Dishonored Faith.

On page 27 of the last annual report of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad Company, we find that the earnings from freights which passed over the whole road between Louisville and Nashville and Louisville and Nashville 1988. 140,060 80 140,061 00 great trunk line could do would amount, then, to about $1,900 per mile of road. The cost of operating the Louisville and Nash-ville railroad during the last year was (see page fifty of the report) $5,651 45 per mile of road. Hence it would be necessary to earn at least $4,400 per mile from the local business in order to defray the mere operating expenses of the great Southern road. Yet the reports of the Louisville and Nash-ville railroad show that the earnings from

The newest of the new plans for connecting ingland with France by railway is that of a abmorged from tube, to be supported at a cpth of about 50 feet below the surface of near bulkhead will be removed, and the work-men will pass on the next segment. The ven-tilation of the tube is to be provided by sta-tionary steam power at one of the entrances to the tube, which will force a sufficiency of air through a channel constructed along the inner roof of the tube to a point about mid-way of its entire length, where it will be discharged and force itself to either end.

All England turns out on "Derby Day," yet you could find in London thousands of Eng-lishmen unsequainted with the bistory of the sold it to the Earl of Derby, and here was given the grand fise changels on the occasion of the marriage of his lordship to Miss Foots, the actress. In the year 1879 Earl Derby ar-ranged and established the race of the "Oaks," for three year old fillies, and in 1730 a race for colts and fillies was inaugurated, and this was named the "Derby." The first Derby was run by Diomed, a horse exported subsequently to America, where he transsubsequently to America, where he transmitted blood worthy of his reputation and

The Edinburg Review in a recent number publishes two letters, dated in 1792 and 1793, from the Marchoness de Lafnyette to Gen. Washington, asking for his aid in obtaining the whose of her branch from confliction. from the Marchiness de Lafayette to Gen. Washington, asking for his aid in obtaining the release of her husband from captivity at climits, in Austria. The second letter complains that no attention had been paid to the first, and the Review, in commenting upon this, hints very plainly that Gen. Washington his, hints very plainly that Gen. Washington was ungrateful and neglectful of his former comrade by disregarding the appeal of the wife for aid. This covert charge, however, can at once be refrietd, as Sparks Washington prints the letters of the Marchloness de Lajayette, and gives an account of the efforts made to secure the liberation of General Lafayette. The first letter, dated October 8, 1792, was received by General Washington on February, 1798, having been adelayed by coming by way of England and through private hands. On March 13th following President Washington wrote to Madame Lafayette hunusually warm terms of sympathy and friendship, and explained that every efforts that already been made and would continue to be made to relieve her busband. This letter was unclosed in a letter of instructions on the subject of the release of Lafayette in unusually warm terms of sympathy and friendship, and explained that every effort was unclosed in a letter of instructions on the subject of the release of Lafayette upon the American Ministers, Gouverneur Worris. The representations of Mr. Morris were pereistently made for four years. General Washington was constantly anging the subject to the American Ministers, Gouverneur General Washington was constantly anging the constant of the release of Lafayette upon the American Ministers in every country of Europe, and himself words a private letter to the Emperor Francis II, of Austria Madame Lafayette's second letter was written by her had already deem made and would containe to be made to relieve her husband. This lotter was inclosed in a letter of instructions on the subject to the American Minister, Gouverneur Morris. The representations of Mr. Morris were percisently made for four years. General Washington was constantly surging the subject of the release of Lafayette upon the American Ministers in every country of Europe, and himself wrote a private letter to the Emperor Frauets II, of Austria. Madame Lafayette's econd letter was written by her on March 13th, in ignorance of the delay in the delivery of her first, and her complaints required no fuller explanations than those already transmitted.
